WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—A little more than a year has passed since the Harrison anti-narcotic law went into effect, and it is now possible in some degree to make an accounting of it. There is no doubt but what it has been effective, and it is also certain that its success has been won at a terrific expense in pain and crime. Thousands of persons have died, as a result of being deprived of drugs to which they had been addicted for years. A whole system of smuggling has been built up to supply their insistent demand, and with this system the federal officers have waged a dramatic battle.

Harrison Law New Method

The Harrison law has frequently been referred to as the most comprehensive and effective law yet devised for minimizing the traffic in drugs. It marks an epoch in the history of anti-narcotic legislation because of the fact that it provides a new and original method of controlling the manufacture, sale and use of prescribed drugs from the time they are imported until they reach the consumer. It requires everyone who handles narcotics to register, pay a tax and keep careful record of all transactions on forms sold by the government. Being itself not a regulatory nor a police measure, the federal law can not be expected to take the place of the state laws designed to restrict the sale and use of habit-forming drugs. Legislators, recognizing the limitations of the federal law, have during the past year endeavored to elaborate on the provisions of this law by the enactment of state laws which would serve to control some of the many features of drug abuse not touched by the federal law.

The day that this new law went into effect, a prominent business man asked to have a prescription refilled at a Washington pharmacy. On inquiry he explained, innocently, that it had been given him not by his own physician but by a physician in good standing in New York, and always cured him of the grippe. He admitted that he felt gripped very often. The clerk told him that under the new law the prescription could not be refilled as it contained heroin. It was decided to fill it without the heroin, but the effect was not as before. He longed for the drug he had become accustomed to and it took several months' treatment to cure him.

Many Helped Uncle Sam

This druggist was one of 48,000 who registered as the law required and whose aid was solicited in enforcing it. There were also 125,000 physicians, 37,000 dentists, 10,000 veterinarians, 3,000 hospitals and 1,100 wholesale druggists who registered under the law. The co-operation of nearly a quarter of a million persons was obtained in addition to the government officials and police whose business it was to see the law carried out.

A short time after the law went into effect, two young men slouched along one of the streets in New York's east side, whose pale faces and twitching lips showed they were in the agony that comes to the drug addict when deprived of this stimulant. A strange Italian stopped them

Kaiser Told Plainly Only Instant Renunciation of Sub-sea Policy Will Save Relations

WASHINGTON, April 19.—

Broad intimation was given by responsible German officials this afternoon that Germany will find it possible to meet the demands in President Wilson's note as outlined by the latter in his message to congress.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—"Unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the government of the German empire altogether."

This declaration was made by President Wilson to congress this afternoon at the climax of a message in which he indicted in severest terms the German submarine campaign.

"This decision I have arrived at," the president added, "with the keenest regret; the possibility of the action contemplated I am sure all thoughtful Americans look forward to with unaffected reluctance."

The note to Germany, serving notice that she must stop her submarine campaign immediately to prevent severance of diplomatic relations, has been cable.

The president was grave and earnest as he spoke. Congress and the galleries scarcely stirred until he finished. No applause interrupted.

A full minute after the president ceased speaking a brief storm of applause broke, with the members on the floor and in the galleries participating. A "regel" yell, given when he entered the chamber, was not repeated. At the height of the cheering the president stepped down from the speaker's platform and departed from the chamber. He entered his automobile and was driven directly back to the White house.

The president had made no request of congress. He had simply fulfilled a promise that he would advise congress in case he took action as he reported today having taken.

Senators returned to their chamber and the house resumed consideration of its agricultural bill.

The president spoke as follows: A situation has arisen in the foreign relations of the country of which it is my plain duty to inform you very frankly.

It will be recalled that in February, 1915, the Imperial German government announced its intention to treat the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and destroy all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within any part of that portion of the high seas and that it warned all vessels, of neutral as well as of belligerent ownership, to keep out of the waters it had thus prescribed or else enter them at their peril. The government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without the practical certainty of gross and palpable violations of the law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law rules founded upon principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea, could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership, would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks, and that no right to close any part of the high seas against their use or expose them to such risks could lawfully be asserted by any belligerent government. The law of nations in these matters upon which the government

EVENTS WHICH LED TO TODAY'S CRISIS

February 4, 1915—Germany declared all waters around Great Britain a war zone after February 18, and announced that every merchant vessel found therein would be submerged.

February 10—The United States warned Germany it would be held to "strict accountability" for any trenchment on American life or property.

February 16—Germany replied the unfairness of Great Britain's blockade and the necessity of self preservation would force it to a continuance of this policy.

April 30—American steamer Gulfight torpedoed and three killed.

May 1—Advertisement in New York papers warned Americans of danger of marine travel; and hundreds who had booked passage on Lusitania received mailed warnings.

May 7—Lusitania sunk, 1,200 drowned; 115 of them Americans.

May 13—United States protested, saying America "will not omit any word or act necessary to its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of American citizens."

May 30—Germany replied Lusitania was armed and carried munitions.

June 8—Secretary Bryan refused to sign second note; resigned.

June 10—New note warned Germany.

July 9—Germany replied British ship could not be protected by presence of an American aboard.

July 21—Another American note sent, calling for no reply but restating position.

August 19—Arabic sunk with two Americans drowned.

October 5—Bernstorff promised disavowal and reparation for Arabic.

January 8—Berlin promised to pay indemnity for Americans lost on Lusitania; investigate Persia case and observe international law in Mediterranean.

January 25—Secretary Lansing announced Germany had refused to carry out promises of disavowal.

January 26—United States final word on Lusitania handed Bernstorff.

February 4—Germany's reply received.

February 15—Germany warned world that all armed British and Allied vessels would be sunk without warning. United States demands withdrawal of order.

March 3 and March 7—Senate and house voted to stand back of president.

March 28—United States hears of Sussex disaster; then in quick succession of Eagle Point, Manchester and Berwindale. These sinkings precipitated the present crisis.

Late Bulletins On German Crisis

NEW YORK, April 19.—(2:10 p. m.)—The stock market this afternoon reflected in its weakness the grave view brokers took of the German-American situation. Publication of the president's address was followed by immediate declines practically throughout the list. The "war brides" showed the biggest drops—Crucible off 3 3/8; Baldwin off 4; American Can off 1 3/8.

The market showed some strengthening tendencies during the last half hour. United States Steel remained steady.

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 19.—(2:15 p. m.)—The foreign office today delivered to Ambassador Gerard a second memorandum on the sinking of the French channel boat Sussex.

The memorandum included the statement of an unnamed Swiss citizen that he did not see a torpedo, though he testified differently at the investigation in London.

PARIS, April 19.—President Wilson bases his conviction that the Sussex was torpedoed partly on the affidavits of two Americans.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(2:25 p. m.)—Secretary Lansing decided this afternoon to give out the president's note to Germany immediately. It is expected to be made public before 4 p. m.

HEAD END OF TRAIN TOPPLES INTO THE RIVER NEAR DE SOTO

Engine, Tender and One Baggage Coach Plunge Through Washout Below De Soto

RAIN UNDERMINES LONG FILL

Only "Slow Order" Prevents Disastrous Accident with Big Loss of Life

Engine, tender, and one baggage car of Burlington passenger train No. 48, leaving La Crosse at 10:48 last night, plunged into the Mississippi from the Red Creek Bottoms fill five miles south of De Soto, Wis., at about 11:30 last night. The accident was caused by a washout.

Engineer Charles J. Snyder, 1508 Wood street was the only member of the train crew injured. He sustained slight burns from escaping steam on his back and minor bruises about the head.

With Snyder in the engine was Chester B. Newcomb, 816 Kane street, fireman.

Conductor C. W. Flint, Minneapolis, was in charge of the train.

Train Going Slowly

The train was proceeding over the fill at a rate of less than ten miles an hour. The fill had been weakened by the high stage of the Mississippi, and crews of workmen have been working on it daily. Last night's heavy rain undid the repair work and the fill was undermined. Burlington officials said today that in their belief the receding flood water also played a part in the undermining of the tracks.

At a point in about the center of the Red Creek Bottoms, Engineer Snyder felt his engine sag down. He and Fireman Newcomb decided to try to cross the fill, it was stated at offices here this morning. They proceeded slowly. Suddenly the engine lurched over to the right and slowly sank.

Newcomb stood on the engine step for several seconds before he jumped off and rolled down the side of the fill.

Steam-Pipe Bursts

Snyder is said to have stayed in the cab some moments after his fireman jumped, and in jumping a strained steam pipe in the cab burst and slightly scalded him.

As the crew left the cab, the engine continued several yards on the tracks, then suddenly toppled to the right and, carrying the tender and first baggage car with it, rolled down the steep embankment and was almost submerged in the water.

The baggage car contained automobile accessories. No one was in it. When Conductor Flint alighted from his train, he met Snyder and Newcomb climbing up the bank of the fill down which they had rolled after their leap. A brakeman was sent back to the De Soto station, where the La Crosse offices of the road were notified.

Bring Coaches Back to City

An engine was sent immediately to the scene of the accident, and the coaches were brought back to La Crosse.

Passengers in the sleeping coaches did not know of the washout for some time after the engine was lost. A momentary fright passed over the passengers, especially in the day coaches, when they learned that they were still on the tracks near the washout portion of the fill. They were quieted by the conductor's assurance there was no danger.

Over Another Road

Arrangements were made here with the Milwaukee railroad to run the Burlington coaches over that road to Chicago. All passengers who had intended going that distance, remained in the coaches. Traffic to the east on the Burlington was held up all day. A wrecker and wrecking crew were sent to De Soto at seven o'clock this morning.

It was stated by Burlington officials this afternoon that a temporary bridge is being constructed over the washout. Traffic will be resumed by 10 o'clock tonight, it was asserted.

The fact that no lives were lost and that more coaches did not go over the high embankment is due, it is believed, to the "slow order" issued some days ago when it became apparent that there was danger at the Red Creek Bottoms fill.

MORE TROOPS ORDERED INTO MEXICO AS HELP OF CARRANZA LESSENS*SENATE VOTES FOR BILL TO CREATE ARMY OF MILLION

Senate Rejects Hay Bill in Entirety; Army of Million in Reserves and Regulars in Senate Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—The Chamberlain army bill, creating an army in peace times of 1,000,000 men, was adopted in extra night session yesterday. It went to conference today.

After the passage of the Chamberlain measure, the senate formally rejected the Hay house bill in toto. New conferees from the two houses will go to the mat and it is almost certain the president finally will settle the terms of the country's land preparedness measure.

Looking forward to "trades" in conferences, the senate adopted an amendment by Brandegee of Connecticut increasing the peace strength of regulars from 180,000 to 250,000. Another amendment adds 50,000 men to the coast artillery, already described as the most efficient branch of the army.

An army of a million men—regulars and reserve—is created for peace times by the senate bill. There are 261,000 to be raised as a federal reserve; 280,000 as the enlarged and "federalized" national guard; 250,000 regulars; and probably over 200,000 youths to be trained in the schools and colleges under regular army instructors.

This school provision would make it possible for even a high school where there are fifty students over 15 years of age who desire military training to have a regular army officer assigned to it. Only students over 18 would be called into service in time of emergency; and they cannot be called for strike duty. Parents' consent is necessary for enlistment.

That many provisions of the senate bill will be thrown overboard in conference, Senator Chamberlain admits.

Must Fill Border Gaps

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 19.—General Funston has decided to send 2,300 more troops into Mexico today. Funston today faced the problem of filling the gaps along the border. From Brownsville, Eagle Pass, Fabens and Marfa, Texas, and from Fort Huachuca, Ariz., the additional troops are coming to concentrate at Columbus and swarm over the line to aid General Pershing's men. With the completion of this move the department will be practically stripped of available men. A comparative handful of troops are available from other departments. It is said, and whether the war department will order them to border guard duty at the expense of other sections, was a matter of conjecture at headquarters. There is one other solution. The Texas militia are ready to jump into the gaps along the border.

Some of the new men will take their stations along the line of communications and an equal number, now accustomed to the climate and country, will advance for active service with General Pershing's advance guard.

Renew Withdrawal Demand?

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—The Mexican ambassador to Washington has been instructed to demand the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico on the ground that Villista bands have been completely broken up. It was stated officially today.

The Mexico City dispatch does not indicate whether new demands have been made upon the United States, or whether this is merely an official interpretation of the recent Carranza note instructing the Mexican ambassador to treat with the United States for the withdrawal of troops.

Scott to See Funston

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Chief of Staff Scott will leave tonight for San Antonio to spend several days with General Funston in canvassing the Mexican situation.

Scott's trip is at Secretary Baker's request. It is made solely for the purpose of getting as accurate information as is possible for the use of the department, said Baker.

General Funston remains in full charge of the affairs of his department, including the expedition into Mexico. He has the full confidence of the department and his dispositions have the department's entire approval.

Baker and Funston Dispatch Men Despite Air of Gravity Over Mexican Situation

BORDER POSTS ARE STRIPPED

Funston Gathers All Available Men at Columbus and Many Gaps Are Left on Border

BY CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Seemingly lack of Carranzista co-operation in the Villa hunt, hammered home in official reports to the war department, gave the Mexican situation today an air of gravity that even the overwhelming German-American problem did not entirely submerge.

Secretary of War Baker and General Funston, however, intend to meet all needs of General Pershing fully. This was indicated by the dispatch of 2,300 more troops in Mexico.

General Pershing has reported that Major Herrera, of Parral, warned against the return of American troops into that city. Further, the firing of Carranzista soldiers at Parral upon Americans has given the most striking evidence that they are far from wholeheartedly in aid of the American expedition.

Secretary Lansing is in a position to negotiate with Mexican Ambassador Arredondo over withdrawal, but neither side apparently is in any great hurry. Possibly, authorities said, Carranza as reported will renew his suggestion for ending the hunt but Consul Rodgers' messages have said no new demand would be made until America replied to the first note on the subject.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regenerative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken-down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what result this amazing transformation should produce as with increased weight the cheeks fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Hoeschler Bros., and other leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

MAY ALLISON IS YOUNGEST STAR

May Allison, co-star with Harold Lockwood in the Mutual Masterpicture, De Luxe Edition, "Life's Blind Alley," which will appear at the Casino theater today and tomorrow, is one of the most versatile stars in the motion picture field. Although still young in years, she has risen to a place of eminence attained by few. She made her stage debut at Beauty in "Everywoman," at the age of sixteen. She played the title role in a road company of "The Quaker Girl," and ingenue leads with De Wolf Hopper for two seasons. She began her moving picture work two years ago with the Famous Players company playing opposite William H. Crane in "The Governor's Lady," where she made a pronounced hit. She next appeared in Lasky productions and then joined the American forces.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandarine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandarine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandarine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

Man and His Shoes
How much a man is like his shoes! For instance, both a sole may lose; Both have been tanned; both are quite tight—
By cobblers; both get left and right. Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet. They both need aeling; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mold. With shoes the last is first; with men
The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out they're mended new.
When men wear out they're men dead, too! They both are tread upon, and both Will tread on others, nothing loth.
Both have their ties, both incline, When polished, in the world to shine! And both peg out. Now would you choose To be a man or be his shoes?

THE BANKS AND THRIFT

We have discussed an open hour for the banks on Saturday evening, as a service for the convenience and safety of business earnings of Saturday afternoon and evening.

Another great advantage of the arrangement would be the chance it would give working men to deposit the contents of their pay envelopes. Cashing checks here and there, and facing the idle hours of the week-end amusements with full pockets, result in a dissipation of wages not directed through the channels of thrifty investment. The interest of the banks in the thrift of the community should weigh much in the argument for Saturday night service.

The banks of La Crosse have done excellent work in thrift promotion through their advertising, but there has never been a general thrift campaign in La Crosse. Some cities are attempting such campaigns. For instance, in Wausau the "Christmas account" was employed. Wage earners were encouraged to start a Christmas account, ten cents and an additional ten cents for each succeeding week. Begun in January, this meant a deposit of $5.20 for the final week, a weekly average of $2.65 and a total account of $137.80 at the end of the year.

In no city is the drain of little things upon the community's nickles and dimes greater than in La Crosse; nowhere have the banks a finer opportunity to do missionary work in thrift.

WHAT IS A PROFESSIONAL?

Francis Ouimet, who recently won the national open golf championship, has been declared a professional and barred from further amateur play "because he is making money out of golf by selling sporting goods".

This looks like a soft way to eliminate a troublesome competitor. One wonders by what reasoning selling golf sticks can be made a bar to the amateur standing of a sportsman who does not play for hire. Would not the same logic apply to a banker who "makes money" by carrying the deposits of a golf association treasurer? How many men take up golf to keep mind and body in trim for business! May it not be said that these men, too, "make money out of golf"? The contractor who builds a golf club house "makes money out of golf"—is he barred?

Sometimes it seems that we are going to extremes in drawing the professional line. A young man is studying law, the law is his ambition. To help him through his college course he accepts pay for playing ball with an amateur team during vacation. When he returns to college he is barred from all athletics as a "professional". He is not a professional in the sense that he has made a business of baseball, or intends to do so. His intention is anything else. He is a professional only in the stretched technical sense that he has violated a rule which declares that in some cases an amateur is a professional.

Sports should be kept clean, but the rule under discussion often bars clean sportsmen. Rules establishing the status of professionalism should be reasonable.

ABOUT SILENT COLONEL HOUSE

Colonel House's visit to us, which has just come to an end, stands, I think, for a landmark in the war. No one has had anything like his chances of valuing the general factors which will decide the fate of Europe, now dreadfully in the balance. This is not a small function. Save for the conferences of the allies, diplomacy has come to an end over the great field of Europe. Neither side knows what the other side thinks; and the more men strain the ear, the more loudly sounds the roar of the cannon. It is well, therefore, for the world to have at least one carrier of ideas and intelligence. Colonel House has impressed everybody with his sense, prudence, reserve, sincerity, power of estimating forces, and giving them their due weight in the balance of affairs.—London "Nation."

A shrewd, experienced thoughtful man, whose interest in life is and always has been politics, to handle the machinery of it and get the best results compatible with the material offered. The rare thing about him is his self-effacement and superiority to vanity. He loved to play the game, but never thought of the gate money, never cared to be a grandstand player. A mere human being, like any of us, looking about for things that interest his mind and made life taste good and finding them supremely in politics.—E. S. Smith, essayist.

I can point out to you a few men—of course I am not going to name them now—whom every man ought to be afraid of because nothing but the truth resides in them. I have one in particular in mind whom I have never caught thinking about himself. I would not dare to make a pretense in the presence of that man even if I wanted to. His eyes contain the penetrating light of truth before which all disguises fall away.—President Wilson.

The above, and more from high sources, are quoted in an article on Col. E. M. House, the president's personal advisor and foreign emissary, in the current "Collier's". They are the first utterances to bring before us vividly a citizen who is playing a remarkable role in our present international difficulties. We have all read of Colonel House and his high assignments, but so unobtrusively does he deal with the things of kings and world-wars that one has hardly taken notice of the man, although profoundly interested in his missions. Here, by the very emphasis of his modesty, Colonel House becomes a vivid picture, of whom the above paragraphs give us a single startling glimpse. We shall want to know more of this man of whom Childers says that he has "ruled the politics of the south", but "never has attended a political convention".

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Very Ready
Charles M. Schwab, congratulated on his munitions work, said in Loretto:
"To succeed in munitions work or in anything else you must be ready—as ready as Jake."
"Jake and Joe were brothers, and they were both very hard up. One day a man called at their rooms and asked for Jake—and Joe, thinking the visitor was a dun, said:
"I'm afraid you can't see Jake."
"Oh, I must see him," said the caller, "without fail."
"I'm sorry," said Joe, "but Jake left town yesterday."
"Pshaw," said the visitor, "that's too bad. I wanted to pay him $100 I owe him, and I'm going abroad today."
"Oh," said Joe, "that's easy. Jake came back this morning."

Seeking the News
Not long ago a certain man who wished to get Earl Kitchener's real opinion about the war invited him to dinner. Throughout the meal he tried to make up his mind to question the great soldier, but his courage failed him.
After the dinner, as the host was returning with "K. of K." to the war office, he took his courage in both hands and said:
"Well, what is the latest about the war?"
Kitchener looked at him for a moment in mild surprise. Then he gave him one of his rare smiles.
"We'll get an evening paper," he said quietly.

Self-Made
Patience—Is she going to marry that man?
Patrice—I believe so.
"He's a self-made man, isn't he?"
"Yes; but she's going to put the finishing touches to him."

The Difference
The difference between being engaged and being married is that when you are engaged you can go and see the girl when you want to and when you are married you have to go and see her when you don't want to.

Poor Butcher
Mistress—Did you see if the butcher had pig's feet?
Maid—No, ma'am, I couldn't—he has his boots on!

Not for the World
He—Why so pensive—aren't you enjoying the poem?
She—Oh, yes, but I'm afraid people'll think I'm a co-ed.

Wife Knows
"Yes, Blank has gone west to develop his gold mine. Has he taken his wife along?"
"Yes; he says she'll be sure to find the pockets, if there are any."

Justified to Judge
Belle—Do you think women should have the ballot?
Jack—Oh, sometimes I do and sometimes I don't. They are so vacillating, you know!

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE
(By Nicksah)

CHILLON
The prison of Chillon is a monument to the value of advertising. Considered as a prison, it has little claim to greatness. There are dungeons far better arranged from a sanitary and esthetic point of view, if you are looking for high-class dungeons. On the other hand, there are dungeons far worse and more inhuman, if you wish to revel in thrills of horror and pity. Chillon owes its world-reputation to the activities of Lord Byron, who wrote the "Prisoner of Chillon" and thereby secured the fame of Chillon for all time.

Chillon is very accessible, thanks to the Swiss policy of putting no unnecessary obstacles in the way of the sightseer. It is nearly an ideal "sight." All the elements of interest are presented, conveniently arranged and properly balanced. There is the mountain lake, clear as a mirror and fair as a jewel. There are the quaint cottages and the graceful villas about the banks, standing apparently on the up-turned ends of their own perfect reflections. There is the dark forest staring moodily at its own dark image in the quiet water. To make all complete, you have the ancient historic dungeon, home of romance and subject of deathless verse. It is no wonder that it takes a war to make us see America first.

The dungeon itself nowadays is a graceful bit of architecture, more like a church than a prison, with its cool, gloomy interior arched and pillared after the best traditions of the builders' art. In the time when it was operating actively as a dungeon, however, this open space was divided up into little cells, and the graceful pillars were used to anchor the business end of a chain; all of which contributed largely toward efficiency but very little to the comfort of the inmates.

In spite of all that has been said and written to wear the subject of the old time prison threadbare, you cannot suppress a little thrill of pity and horror when you see the hollows worn into living rock by the feet of some unfortunate, pacing up and down helpless and hopeless through the years and the decades. In spite of 42-centimeter guns and submarines and poison gases, you feel that it is sagacious to be born in the twentieth century.

To Organize Uncle Sam's Aviation Corps

Colonel George C. Squier
Colonel George C. Squier, military attache with the American embassy in London, has been recalled by Secretary of War Baker, it is believed, for the purpose of organizing the aviation service of the United States army. He may succeed Colonel Samuel Reber, who was accused in the senate of failure to handle the aeroplane service properly.

Old Lady Had Right Idea of Birth of Nation

Majestic theater employees, to whom the story is particularly apropos because of the big preparations they are making for the return of "The Birth of a Nation" next week, are chuckling over an anecdote that was discovered recently in a current magazine.

"It's as true of the picture as of the time it tells about," agreed Bill Freise, stage manager, and Charlie Larson, operator, as they exhibited the following clipping:

"Not long ago 'The Birth of a Nation' was showing in a certain city in the far south. As the film play deals largely with the reconstruction period, and as this particular town in this particular state had an especially severe taste of carpetbaggers in the years immediately succeeding the civil war, the editor of the leading local paper decided to get the views of a number of prominent citizens, of an age sufficient to have remembered the actual event, on the question as to whether the film version correctly portrayed history.
"Some he saw personally; some he reached by telephone. In the latter group was included a charming elderly lady of outspoken tendencies, whose husband had been a distinguished officer of the late confederacy.
"Mrs. Blank," asked the editor over the wire, 'have you been to the theater yet to see the moving picture play called the Birth of a Nation?'
"I have not," said she.
"Then probably you wouldn't care to give an opinion of its merit and its educational value for publication?" continued the newspaper man.
"I'll say just this much," stated the lady: 'I passed through the Birth of a Nation myself. And—believe me, young man—it was no twilight sleep!'"

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
- 67 DAISY DEAN -

Pearl White, world famous as the heroine of the Pathe serials, was born in Missouri and broke into things theatrical by the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" route, that great nursery of histrionic talent. For several years she was connected with various road shows, and then obtained an engagement with a circus. For two or three years she worked under "the big top" and then went back to the stage, where she has been ever since, playing with some of the best and some of the worst companies in existence, as she expresses it. Three or four years ago she received an offer from Pathe to appear in pictures, and with Pathe she has been ever since with the exception of short intervals.
Miss White possesses a marked individuality upon the screen—she resembles no other player before the public. For nerve and willingness to take chances while working before the camera she has few equals in pictures.

Pearl White.
In order to produce thrills she has taken her life in her hands more than once. Only recently she recovered from a severe accident, occasioned by her desire to do something that nobody else would have attempted.

Nerves Unnecessary
Says Gladys Hulette
"I do not believe it is necessary for an actress or any other girl to have nerves," says Gladys Hulette, the Thanhouser actress.
Miss Hulette, besides being a very pretty girl, is an athletic one. Clad in a scarlet sweater and cap, she may be seen any morning in New Rochelle, N. Y., taking a brisk early morning walk long before many people have turned out of their beds.
"I find it quite necessary to keep in good trim. There are so many different things required of a motion picture actress that she must be ready for every emergency. I find taking long walks and living as much as possible out of doors eliminates nerves," she says.

Willard Mack, Gerda Holmes and Clara Whipple will head the cast of a big Equitable feature, temporarily entitled, "His One Big Chance." It will be the next picture directed by John Ince. This is a newspaper story of unique and powerful character.

The Minnesota lumberjacks voted the Mutual Traveler the most beautiful girl they had ever seen in their lives when she visited them for the filming of "See America First."

A NEW YORK CHINESE SCHOOL
About twenty-five New York Chinese boys attended a regular Chinese school conducted after the methods of the Celestial republic. They are the sons of Chinese business men who, while appreciating the value of the American education, desire that their sons shall also be instructed in Chinese. Each of the boys attends the New York public school. After that he enters the Chinese school which is in daily session from 4 o'clock until 8 in the evening, with an hour's recess for supper. The boys bring inkwells and copybooks, for their chief work is learning to write the two thousand odd characters which constitute the Chinese alphabet. A student must memorize over four thousand other characters before he is able to read Chinese. It requires nearly ten years to acquire a practical use of the language.

IT WASN'T MUTT AND JEFF BUT THE CZAR AND VALET

WASHINGTON, April 19.
—Mutt and Jeff are not fit companions for the czar of Russia, complained the Russian embassy, in an informal protest against a series of cartoons by Bud Fisher, appearing in the newspapers throughout the country.
Whether as the result of embassy complaint or not, the cartoon printed yesterday disclosed the fact that it wasn't really the czar after all. It was the czar's valet who had passed himself off on Mutt and Jeff.
The chap who gets the hardest knocks in early life is apt to be fairly well content with his lot in after years.

NORWEGIAN BOAT SUNK

LISBON, April 19.—The Norwegian steamer Terje Viken has been sunk. The crew was rescued.
The Terje Viken displaced 3,579 tons and was 335 feet long. She was built in 1902 and owned at Tonsberg.

Capt. Louis J. Van Schaick, medal of honor man and one of the most distinguished line officers in the army, is to be military attache to the American embassy that is to be re-established in the City of Mexico. He was given his medal of honor for an act of exceptional gallantry in the Philippines in 1901.

Weather Stops Infantry
PARIS, April 19.—A rather violent bombardment occurred last night north of Verdun in the region south of Haudromont, the war office stated today, but bad weather is hindering infantry operations.

Heavy rainstorms occurred on the Verdun front yesterday and a thick fog overhung most of the western theater of war, making artillery observations out of question. On the west bank of the Meuse the Germans contented themselves with dropping shells at infrequent intervals on Hill 304 and the Dead Man's hill positions.

GREAT AUDIENCE HEARS PRESIDENT DELIVER MESSAGE

Representative Schall of Minnesota Led to Front Seat Half Hour Before Arrival of Executive

TELEGRAMS PLEA FOR PEACE

Messages to the President, Mostly from German-Americans, Ask That Amity Be Preserved

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—A brilliant audience heard the president's message. The usual diplomatic and cabinet galleries were crowded and few members of the senate and house failed to have members of their families present.

Documents Returned
Mrs. Wilson arrived in the president's gallery fifteen minutes before the hour for the president's appearance.

The earliest occupant of the diplomatic gallery was John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union. He was joined soon after by the Swedish minister, W. A. Ekengren and wife; the Italian ambassador, V. Machhi Di Cellere and wife, and Lady Spring-Rice wife of the English ambassador. Counsellor Frank Polk of the state department was the first representative in the state department gallery.

Long before the hour of the president's arrival crowds were jostling for standing space in the halls outside the gallery doors.

The first congressman on the floor was the blind member from Minnesota, Representative Schall, who was led by a page to a front seat where he sat in solitude for more than half an hour.

Full membership of the house was brought on the floor by a point of no quorum raised when consideration of a conference report on the sugar tariff began.

Congressmen eager to learn the course mapped out by President Wilson surrounded Chairman Flood and Representative Cooper of the foreign affairs committee, who came on the floor fresh from a conference at the White House. They were especially anxious over what action, if any, would be asked of the house after the reading of the message.

Telegrams began pouring in, chiefly from German-Americans, asking that peace be preserved with Germany.

Criticism broke out early among republicans of the course of the president in not consulting republican members of the foreign affairs committee until after the message to Berlin was dispatched.

Representative Cooper, among those called to the White House, expressed dissatisfaction with President Wilson's course in this respect. The suggestion, however, that he will tell the house of the displeasure of

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITIONS IN WISCONSIN.

Week ending with Monday, April 17, 1916

Fair weather prevailed generally until Saturday night and Sunday when the greater part of the state was visited by moderate showers which were very beneficial. The first half of the week was quite cool with night temperatures generally below freezing but the latter part was favored by warmer weather. In the southern portion of the state the soil is in good condition for work and plowing and seeding has progressed well but in the north the frost is not out of the ground and very little work has been done. Tobacco beds are being prepared.

Winter grains are generally reported to have come through the winter in fairly good condition but there is complaint of clover winter killing in some localities. Pastures and fields are beginning to show a little green but trees and general vegetation have not started much. Warmer weather and more rain are needed.

RETURN EMBASSY PAPERS SEIZED IN VON IGEL ARREST

Bernstorff Told Papers He Desired Greatly to Procure Will Be Returned

MATTER BEFORE FOREIGN OFFICE?

Ambassador Understood to Have Laid Matter Before Berlin; U. S. Watches Every Move

NEW YORK, April 19.—District Attorney Marshall announced this afternoon that he will proceed with the conspiracy prosecution against Wolf Von Igel, secretary to Captain Von Capen, recalled German military attaché, unless specifically directed to stop proceedings by Attorney General Gregory.

Marshall received instructions from Solicitor Polk of the state department to drop the prosecution if the offenses complained of were committed after Von Igel became attached to the German embassy. He said all the acts complained of occurred before September, 1914, fifteen months before Von Igel was connected with the embassy.

Captain Hans Tauscher will return from Boston late today and surrender himself to the federal authorities to the indictment tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Secretary Lansing informed German Ambassador Von Bernstorff today that the papers seized when Wolf Von Igel was arrested yesterday by department of justice officials, will be returned to the embassy.

At the conclusion of a twenty minute conference between Secretary Lansing and Von Bernstorff, the latter said he had discussed only the case of Captain Von Papen's former secretary, indicted in New York.

Von Igel has been released on bail pending the action of the department of justice on the conditional request for his release by the state department.

Grows in Aspect

NEW YORK, April 19.—The arrest of Wolf Von Igel, former secretary of Captain Von Papen and German embassy attaché, and the seizure of papers in his office, said to reveal many things concerning extensive bomb plots in this country, took on an international aspect today, second only to the submarine controversy. Ambassador von Bernstorff is understood to have laid the entire matter before the German foreign office. The United States department of state is kept posted on every move. It has ruled that if it is shown von Igel was an attaché of the German embassy at the time his alleged offenses were committed, he must be released.

The greatest anxiety shown by Ambassador von Bernstorff was to take the papers seized in von Igel's office out of the hands of the American officers. His demand that they be not photographed and that they be turned over to von Igel instantly was made last night.

Von Igel is indicted for a crime alleged to have been committed in September, 1914. The American records show he became a secretary at the German embassy in September, 1915. If these records are borne out he will likely be held for trial with Captain Hans Tauscher and the others with whom he is indicted.

Von Igel is at liberty under $20,000 bail.

Chief Door Keeper Sinnott was hounded all morning for tickets of admission to the galleries. He spent every minute in politely turning down congressmen's requests. Congressmen were besieged in their offices by friends and out-of-town visitors, but the ticket supply was exhausted.

To guard the president, every available officer of the capital police force was on duty. They stood at every door. Orders went out that no person without a ticket of admission should under any circumstances be permitted to go through the lines.

NEW GERMAN NOTE ON FRIENDLY TERMS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has presented to Secretary Lansing a memorandum said to be similar to the one delivered following the sinking of the liner Arabic, reiterating assurances that Germany would conduct submarine warfare according to international law, and was ready to give satisfaction for any unauthorized or unintentional violation of neutral rights.

The ambassador added, however, that Germany under no circumstances would agree to give up submarine warfare, which, he reiterated, was in retaliation for the British food blockade of Germany.

a sort, if warfare it be, cannot be carried on without the most palpable violation of the dictates alike of right and of humanity. Whatever the disposition and intention of the imperial German government, it has manifestly proved impossible for it to keep such methods of attack upon the commerce of its enemies within the bounds set by either the reason or the heart of mankind.

In February of the present year the Imperial German government informed this government and other neutral governments of the world that it had reason to believe that the government of Great Britain had armed all merchant vessels of British ownership and had given them secret orders to attack any submarine of the enemy they might encounter upon the seas, and that the Imperial German government felt justified in the circumstances in treating all armed merchantmen of belligerent ownership as auxiliary vessels of war, which it would have the right to destroy without warning. The law of nations has long recognized the right of merchantmen to carry arms for protection, to use them to repel attack, though to use them in such circumstances, at their own risk; but the Imperial German government claimed the right to set these understandings aside in circumstances which it deemed extraordinary. Even the terms in which it announced its purpose still further to relax the restraints it had previously professed its willingness and desire to put upon the operations of its submarines, carried the plain implication that at least ves-

WOULD HAVE U. S. OWN BEEF PLANTS

Governor Stuart.

Governor Stuart of Virginia, who raises cattle when not engaged with executive duties, told a house subcommittee that stock raisers had lost money in the last year largely because of the lack of competition among beef packers. He suggested that the establishment of government owned slaughter houses and markets where the producer and consumer would meet, would go a long way toward solving the troubles of both sels which were not armed would still be exempt from destruction without warning and that personal safety would be accorded their passengers and crews; but even that limitation, if it was ever practicable to observe it, has in fact constituted no check at all upon the destruction of ships of every sort.

Again and again the Imperial government has given this government its solemn assurances that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with, and yet it has again and again permitted its undersea commanders to disregard those assurances with entire impunity. Great liners like the Lusitania and the Arabic and mere ferryboats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, sometimes before they had even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed vessel of the enemy, and the lives of non-combatants, passengers and crew, have been sacrificed wholesale, in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color or justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to the indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters, constantly extending in area, where these operations have been carried on; and the roll of Americans who have lost their lives on ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

Sussex Case Good Example

One of the latest and most shocking instances of this method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French cross channel steamer Sussex. It must stand forth as the sinking of the steamer Lusitania did, as so singularly tragical and unjustifiable as to constitute a truly terrible example of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels have for the past twelve months been conducting it. If this instance stood alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the German government, some evidence of criminal mistake or wilful disobedience on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedo might be sought or entertained; but unhappily it does not stand alone. Recent events make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance, even though it be one of the most extreme and distressing instances, of the spirit and method of warfare which the Imperial German government has mistakenly adopted, and which from the first exposed that government to the reproach of thrusting all neutral rights aside in pursuit of its immediate objects.

U. S. Patient

The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy in which its own citizens were involved it has sought to be restrained from any extreme course of action or of protest by a thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of this unprecedented war, and actuated in all that it said or did by the sentiments of genuine friendship which the people of the United States have always entertained and continue to entertain towards the German nation. It has, of course, accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the Imperial German government as given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the German government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the laws of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the acts absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation.

But One Interpretation

That point has now unhappily been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The Imperial German government has been unable to put any limits or restraints upon its warfare against either freight or passenger ships. It has, therefore, become painfully evident that the position which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, namely that the use of the submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

But One Course Left

I have deemed it my duty, therefore, to say to the Imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines, notwithstanding the now demonstrated impossibility of conducting that warfare in accordance with what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue; and that unless the Imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the government of the German empire altogether.

Spokesman of Humanity's Rights

This decision I have arrived at with the keenest regret; the possibility of the action contemplated I am sure all thoughtful Americans will look forward to with unaffected reluctance. But we cannot forget that we are in some sort and by the force of circumstances the responsible spokesman of the rights of humanity and that we cannot remain silent while those rights seem in process of being swept utterly away in the maelstrom of this terrible war. We owe it to a due regard for our own rights of neutrals the world over, and to a just conception of the rights of mankind to take this stand now with the utmost solemnity and firmness.

I have taken it, and taken it in

Senator E. L. Smith.

Senator Smith of South Carolina is the author of an amendment to the army bill which provides for the construction of a huge hydro-electric air nitrogen plant for the manufacture of powder in war times and fertilizer in peace. The senate is expected to O. K. the amendment, the confidence that it will meet with your approval and support. All sober minded men must unite in hoping that the Imperial German government, which has in other circumstances stood as the champion of all that we are now contending for in the interest of humanity, may recognize the justice of our demands and meet them in the spirit in which they are made.

Members Disagree

Among democratic leaders endorsement of the president's speech was general, though House Leader Kitchen withheld his views, saying he wished to wait for a mental cooling before discussing matters.

Comments on the message follow: Senator Sherman, Illinois—"If the contents of the message were to be the basis of a declaration of war by congress, I should not vote for war."

Senator Jones, Washington—"I don't believe Americans should travel on belligerent vessels. If they do I hope the travelers will be the first to enlist in the war if it should come. The American people will never approve a war on the grounds named."

Unfortified Black Sea Port Taken in Surprise Attack; Slavs Pursue Fleeing Defenders

Petrograd Thinks Grand Duke Will Straighten Line by Advancing on Baiburt and Erzincan

PETROGRAD, April 19.—The Black sea port of Trebizond has been occupied by the Russians under General Indevitch, the Turkish garrison escaping capture. The garrison is being closely pressed by the Slavs.

The Turks are expected to make their first stand at the crossing of a small stream emptying into the Black sea, six miles west of Trebizond. Heavy fighting is expected at this point.

The grand duke, it is believed here, will now straighten his line by advancing against Baiburt and then against Erzincan, headquarters of the Ninth Turkish army, where desperate resistance is expected. Since the grand duke's advance into Armenia began the Russians have conquered nearly 20,000 square miles of Turkish territory, or about twice the area included in the whole of European Turkey, the newspapers estimated.

The city of Trebizond was not strongly fortified and fell quickly before a surprise attack.

bases his action are incontrovertible. But I am unable to believe they have been established, and, therefore, I will not suggest any action by congress following the president's message."

Senator Sterling of South Dakota—"A strong message, straight-speaking and a hard-hitting, as the times demand."

Senator Shephard of Texas—"It shows the president is being his firmest and truest for civilization in a most grave time."

Senator Wadsworth, New York—"I think the president is fully justified in his action as described today."

Senator Chamberlain, Oregon—"I do not think the president's message will lead to war."

SHIPPING MAN A SUICIDE

NEW YORK, April 19.—Y. Van Der Berg, 60, of Baltimore, chairman of the board of directors of the Gulf Coast lines, committed suicide in his room in the Hotel Manhattan today by shooting himself through the brain. He complained that he was in ill health.

One way to earn a living is by honest labor, but some men never think of trying it.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of hot water before breakfast daily keeps the doctor away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff continued today to be hopeful that the crisis would adjust itself even as others that have preceded it.

Sure of the People

There is not the slightest doubt in administration circles that the people will stand firmly behind the president in the course he deems necessary. ### Blocks Conciliatory Move

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee blocked a resolution by Senator Phelan of California, to declare that the United States still holds hope for the settlement of international difficulties by arbitration.

Phelan asked for passage of the resolution, he said, because of the success of the Chamberlain arm bill yesterday carrying an increase in armament. For the present, Stone said, it would be better to refer all such resolutions to the foreign relations committee.

Mann is Bitter

Bitter comment fell from the lips of Republican Leader Mann, following the president's submarine message to congress this afternoon.

"Under those circumstances," said the dispatch, "those responsible for Germany's foreign policies anticipate America's next note quietly and await developments with clear conscience."

Rev. A. E. Frederick, the "fighting parson" of Kendall, Wis., state assemblyman, attorney and candidate for United States congress, today dismissed the assault and battery charges he brought against Victor Rhodes and Peter Hofman, West Salem men. Frederick alleged attacked him following an anti-saloon talk he gave in the village.

Frederick did not appear in county court when the case was called today. His attorneys, Wolfe, Wolfe and Reid, were not in the court room, and no reason why the "fighting parson" dropped the case was made known.

NAMIQUIPA REGION IS COMBED IN THE BELIEF VILLA DOUBLED BACK

BY H. D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN MEXICO, April 14, via Motor Truck to Columbus, N. M., April 19.—The country around General Pershing's field headquarters at Namiquipa is being combed by the United States on the theory that Villa may possibly have doubled back after the Guerrero fight and is hiding in the hills or villages near Namiquipa.

He is almost daily reported at all points of the compass in places hundreds of miles apart. The entire territory in every direction of headquarters therefore is being patrolled.

The troops are moving in and out of camp at all hours and headquarters is probably the busiest spot along the whole line of communications.

Several minor clashes with Villistas to the south of Namiquipa were reported, all unverified. Reports are constantly being received of scattered remnants of Villa's band but Villa himself has apparently dissolved into thin air. His whereabouts continue to remain a mystery to General Pershing's staff.

The strongest circumstantial report is that Pablo Lopez, reported dead several times, but known to have been wounded in the clash with Colonel Erwins at San Geronimo, abandoned the litter in which he was being carried between two mules and is now riding with a band of twenty or thirty men. Manuel Bacca reported killed in the same fight, but later seen in Namiquipa, is believed to have been a small force back in the hills. Even former Villista "general" Cervantes is reported in the hills with 80 or 100 men.

The ability of these small bands to keep out of reach of the Mexican troops is due to the rugged character of the district. For instance, Las Cruces canon, through which Pershing's staff moved from Dublin to Namiquipa, is a succession of steep, jagged walls covered with rocks and loose stones which endanger horses and men.

All this region is Villa's old stamping ground. His men know every foot trail, road and cave.

General Pershing's headquarters are camped on a high plateau near Namiquipa. The altitude is over 7,000 feet, making the nights almost unbearably cold. High winds render tents unstable and even locomotion is difficult against the winds.

Mayor's Charter Committee Riddles the Present System at Meeting Last Night

MEETS ALL COMERS MAY 2

Ancient City Charter Will Go to Mat with Anybody Who Has Objections or Suggestions

The board of public works, as at present constituted, is probably in its last days, if the opinions expressed by the charter revisionists, in session at the city hall last night, carry their expected weight with the council. The board system was under fire last night, all of the members of Mayor Bentley's charter committee joining in the target practice. Division of responsibility so that there is no real accountability for city work was the chief complaint laid against the present system.

Want General Provision

The committee favored adoption of the general charter provision which allows great latitude in framing the city's system of public works. Under the general statute, the city may appoint three members of the council, three city officials or a trio of any other persons to act as a commission of works, which has the authority to engage a competent and experienced man in whom all authority and responsibility now split three ways among the board of public works, shall be vested.

This and other tentative recommendations of the revisionists are to be laid before the council and various civic agencies at a general mass meeting May 2. On that evening the ancient charter will meet all comers. Among the challengers who will go to the mat with objectionable provisions will be committees from the board of trade, the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' club, and several economists of the normal school faculty, who have been making an intensive study of the charter.

Mayor Promises "Doings" A suggestion of interesting possibility was made by Mayor Bentley last night, during a discussion by the revisionists of the powers with which the mayor's office is clothed.

"It seems to me, by the rulings I have obtained from the city attorney, that the mayor has scarcely any power at all," said Mr. Bentley. "I'm going to make an interesting test in a few days, to see just how far the authority of the office extends."

The mayor refused to give any details of his "interesting test." He bade questioners await the event.

Interesting, in view of the big sewer construction contemplated by the city in the next few years, is a probable interpolation in the new charter, if the opinion of the revision committee goes through. They contemplate a clause allowing the assessment against property for sewer improvement to be paid in ten yearly installments, instead of in a lump sum at the conclusion of the work, as the law now provides.

To Probe Water Rates

A complete investigation of the water system, with the object of ascertaining the actual cost of city water and re-arranging the water rates, is a probability. City Engineer Bradish told the charter committee last night that many institutions in the city are getting water for half or a quarter of its cost. He declared the city was overlooking an important item in making no "ready-to-serve" charge against plants with sprinkler fire-protection systems, which have greatly reduced their insurance rates.

COHAN CAN'T STOP PIGS

NEW YORK.—The pigs pastured close to the home of George M. Cohan at Great Neck, Long Island, were still on the job today, the actor's court action for their removal on the ground of "unusual noise-makers" having failed.

OBREGON IS NEAR VERIFICATION OF VILLA TALE HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, April 19.—General Obregon has fired for prompt confirmation of the report of Villa's death from a search party, composed of two Mexicans and an American officer, who are returning from an examination of the bandit's reputed grave, said a message, transmitted from the Mexico City foreign relations department.

General Obregon expressed confidence, it was said, that Mexico's troubles, international and internal, are over.

General Obregon, the wire says, has perfect confidence in the aged pair who claim to have nursed Villa and to have buried him.

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—An official dispatch received here this afternoon said that the exhumation of the body supposed to be Villa's is now progressing and that confirmation of the identification is momentarily expected.

All previous advices from Mexican official sources have stated that the body of villa had been exhumed and was being taken to Chihuahua City.

"AGRICULTURIST" GOES TO ASYLUM

When Edward J. Schilling, young Sand Lake Coulee farmer, became too scientific in his farm work and called himself an "agriculturist," his family became suspicious. Later he claimed a larger share of the farm's proceeds than he was entitled to, and when his mother refused to give it to him, he sent her out of the house and locked the door. He was examined for his sanity yesterday and is being taken to Mendota by Undersheriff John B. Weber.

The Modern Church.

A professional whistler and a moving-picture show are the latest devices employed by a church in Seattle to lure sinners to repentance and point the way to salvation. While the whistler is somewhat of an innovation, the moving-picture idea has been used for some time in at least one church in this state. Evidently the churches have been forced to the conclusion that the average sinner insists on being entertained while he is being saved.—San Francisco Chronicle.

LAUDER HIMSELF DENIES THE TALE THAT HE'S TIGHT

The almost international belief that Harry Lauder, famous Scotch vaudeville entertainer who appeared at the La Crosse theater last night, is the stingiest actor who ever toured America was given a knock-out blow by Mr. Lauder himself in an interview granted The TRIBUNE.

"They hung that 'stingy' thing on me in my early days," said Mr. Lauder, talking in his characteristic Scotch dialect, which is as broad when he engages in an ordinary conversation as when he is telling a funny story from the stage. "They probably called me stingy because I was never much for the cabarets in New York," he said. "I was always more for the cozy fire-side and the kiddies than for the 'white lights,' although they accredit me with the long-distance record for Scotch highballs."

Mr. Lauder rejected an invitation to join a party of members of the La Crosse club at the conclusion of his entertainment, which was his first appearance in La Crosse.

"No, the wife's waitin' in the private car—I'd rather not," he told them.

Recently Mr. Lauder donated the sum of $30,000 to a fund for British soldiers made blind in the European war. Money which he has given his country, it is said, has aided in the recruiting of 15,000 men for the army. Mr. Lauder has a son fighting in France. He has not heard from him for several weeks.

CHIHUAHUA KNOWS NOTHING OF VILLA DEATH TALE TODAY

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, April 19.—Reports of Villa's death and the disinterment of his body are entirely unconfirmed in official circles here. General Luis Gutierrez, commander of the local garrison, today told a United Press representative he had information of Villa's whereabouts, dead or alive.

Fifteen Mexicans implicated in a plot against the Carranza government were executed today.

War Scare Influences Entire List with Carriers
Hit Only to Slight
Degree

NEW YORK, April 19.—The stock market broke badly today on reports from Washington that a break between the United States and Germany is imminent. The war stocks recorded the biggest losses.

Crucible Steel opened at $2, off 3-8, and immediately dropped 1-2 lower. Baldwin Locomotive declined 2 points on the first trades, and other munition shares suffered similar losses.

The downward movement was checked to an extent in the middle of the first half hour, Crucible Steel rebounding two points and steadying at the advance. Baldwin and American Locomotive were still under pressure but showed no further sharp losses. After opening down one point United States Steel showed symptoms of recovery.

Practically the whole list fell under the influence of the war scare, though railroad stocks were affected only to a slight degree.

After the first flurry all the munition shares except Crucible Steel steadied at a point slightly below opening. The market then settled back into a waiting mood, pending fresh dent Wilson's address before congress.

The market closed steady.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, April 19.—The unsettled political situation and the prospective breaking off with Germany caused a decline in the wheat market today. May was down 1 1/2c, selling at 112 1/2; July declined 3/4c at 112 1/2; September was down 2 1/4c at 110 to 102.
The war clouds also caused a slight depression in corn. However, the weakness of wheat resulted in some liquidation. The May crop was down 3/4c at 75 1/2c; the July delivery remained unchanged at 76 1/2c; September was down 1/4c at 76 1/2c.
Oats recovered from a low market after some heavy buying later. May was unchanged at 45 cents a bushel; July was up 1/4c at 43 1/4c and September was unchanged at 39 3/4c. Provisions were unchanged.

ASQUITH PROPOSES ADJOURNMENT TO PREVENT A BREAK

CRISIS GREATEST FOR MINISTRY

Rumor Persists Kitchener
as Well as Lloyd-George and Others Will Re-

LONDON, April 19.—Predicting a national disaster unless the cabinet comes to an agreement on the conscription issue, Premier Asquith this afternoon proposed adjournment of the house of commons until next Tuesday.

By a few days alteration, the prime minister said, he hoped to bring about a reconciliation.
The premier frankly informed commons that several points of disagreement in the cabinet on the recruiting question have not been swept away by the series of cabinet conferences.

"If these questions are not settled by agreement the result will be the breaking up of the present ministry," he said. "The cabinet is united in the belief that this would be a national disaster. I am hoping that wise counsel will yet prevail."

Greatest Crisis

The crisis was admitted to be the most grave faced by the coalition cabinet since its formation. Sensational rumors were circulated that not only Lloyd-George and other ministers but Lord Kitchener and other military heads had threatened to resign unless Asquith yielded to the demand for immediate general conscription. These reports were somewhat discredited by persistent rumors that a compromise was reached over night and that the threatened cabinet split had been postponed if not averted.

The capture of Trebizond by the Russians and late reports that the United States is about to break with Germany were injected into the crisis today by the Asquith supporters with wholesome effect. These encouraging reports from Petrograd and Washington were used as arguments against any course that might at this time threaten England's position in the eyes of the world.

The fact that the allied economic conference is to open in Paris tomorrow was another reason cited for averting a break. A cabinet crisis, it was held, would have a depressing effect upon the morale of England's allies at a time when they were closing the gap around Germany.

Every member of the cabinet attended the forenoon meeting, disposing of rumors that certain members already had resigned.

PREPARE FOR COMMUNION

FOUR DOCTORS DISAGREED

Pains Disappeared After Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wilmington, Del.—"I was suffering from a terrible backache and pains in my side, with bearing down pains and was very nervous. I was always tired, always drowsy, never could get enough sleep and could not eat. I had four doctors and each told me something different. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I got good results and I now feel better than I have felt for years and I am gaining in weight. ## BEATINGS SERVE NOT TO DAMPEN ARDOR OF LOVER

MADISON, Wis., April 19.—Sam Mittleman is probably the champion "ever loving man of the world." The object of his passion, Clare Feldman, has had him arrested, fined, and beaten up for annoying her, but he still declares he loves her.

The crowning incident in Sam's love affairs came Monday. As he persisted in his attentions, Miss Feldman invited him to call. When he stepped in the house, one of her brothers bounced a club on his head. Two other brothers dropped a gunny-sack over his head and he was propelled to the booby hatch, where, from reports, the old Spanish inquisition was re-enacted.

Sam looks like the main point of attack on Verdun today, but, like Barkis, he is still "winnin'."

"BUNK" SAYS FALL OF VILLA DEATH

EL PASO, Texas, April 19.—"Bunk" was the word United States Senator Fall applied to the story that Villa was dead and Carranza soldiers have found his body.

"If Carranza can get away with it, and I presume he can," said Fall, "the United States soldiers will be recalled in a few days and the expedition will be over. Carranza can then pose as a great national hero, claiming his soldiers killed Villa and compelled the United States troops to leave Mexico. Of course that will not finally solve the Mexican problem, but it will enable the administration temporarily to shelve it.

Fall is watching the Mexican situation from El Paso.

Here's Example, Of Compensation Act's Saving Value

MADISON, Wis., April 19.—How the workmen's compensation law acts as a home-saver and as a means of keeping the children in school and the widow free from worry is again exemplified in the case of Lester A. Kelley.

On March 25 of this year, when floods were raging in southern Wisconsin, the various public utility companies suffered great damage. "Troublemakers" were on duty night and day trying to restore service or striving to save property. Among others, Kelley was on duty. He lost his footing and drowned in the flood near Mineral Point while at work for the Mineral Point Public Service company.

The death was reported to the industrial commission and the insurance company in which the concern is insured. Only twenty days later the state commission handed down its award in behalf of Kelly's widow and his three small children. Mrs. Kelley, under the award, will be paid $37.48 every month for eighty months or for nearly seven years. By that time the oldest child will be assisting in the family burden.

FROCKS FOR THE FANCIFUL MISS

By MAY MANTON

TUCKS and flounces make very interesting features of young girls' fashions. The tucks are essentially youthful and the flounces are made of pretty embroidered and bordered materials that are girl-like in effect and very charming frocks result. The two models that are shown in the illustration are typical of the season. The one at the left is made of the taffeta that serves so many purposes and the one to the right is made of cotton voile with an embroidered border and the material is daintiness itself. To give the note of bright color that is all-important this season, the sash is of wide satin ribbon in American beauty red. Ribbons play an important part in the spring and summer fashions. They are marvelously beautiful and both plain colors and brocaded effects are fashionable. The metal brocaded ribbons are really superb but the simpler sorts are better adapted to lingerie frocks.

Serge Dresses With Brilliant Colored Embroidery Are Very Smart - - By May Manton

THE time was when the last few days before Lent would be crowded with social activities and with weddings but we do not make of that season what we once did and there is not the general cessation of gaiety, so that while the week is somewhat crowded and there are a number of important charitable events there is no unusual stir. Here in New York we are still interested in what is to come and occasional bright warm days remind us that spring is nearly here.

A great many different influences are at work as has been stated again and again. On one hand we find the Spanish idea being utilized, on the other the Russian. The Chinese influence was commented upon last week. Altogether it is a season of variety and of many periods worked upon, bringing about something new and our own.

From the Riviera comes the news that the Russian blouses are being extensively worn. They certainly are adapted to between seasons wear and whenever a fashion takes a sudden turn it is apt to have some root in adaptability. The model is the conventional simple one closed at the neck and buttoned all the way down with a high collar and deep cuffs and is belted. Favorite ones are of liberty silk or of silk jersey light colors to be worn over white or lingerie gowns. Here in New York we are seeing these Russian dresses made of net, of crêpe de chine of various materials. Evidently can reckon upon the Russian element to a certain extent. Embroideries when used naturally follow Russian trend and how various colors that are familiar in the Russian work. The blouses of jersey or of liberty is of just the comfortable weight to make the little wrap that is always needed for the morning or the evening in a warm day. It is apt to be becoming too and it probably will be exploited to a fair extent. The net blouses that were mentioned in an earlier letter will really make a pretty variation although at first thought anything like net made in Russian style seems a bit incongruous.

Bright colored embroideries on dark colored gowns make another feature of the new models. Street gowns are being largely exploited. A smart dress seen at a recent opening is of navy serge with embroidery in bright colors. The embroidery takes the form of a wide border finishing the edges of the over-skirt, the girdle, the collar and the cuffs, etc. It is simple in design but it is the color effect that is rather than detail. Hand embroidered blouses of such sort are being largely used and tailors also are using stitching of novel sort. The machine is threaded with heavy floss in a desired color and rows of stitching are used as finish. At a glance it looks like a silk cord applied. It is extremely effective in spite of its simplicity.

Metal threads are liked for embroidery, too, and silver and gold frequently are used not alone to give brilliancy to a costume but often to relieve a quiet tone. Grey is to be much worn throughout the spring and summer and grey with bits of silver and even gold really enhances. Designers are quick to realize this fact and to make use of the effect. Narrow soutache braid is being used as well as embroidery and there is a very general tendency toward finish of such sort, and since the embroidery is none of a difficult accomplishment and the braid is simply applied over a stamped design, the work comes easily within any needle woman's scope.

Gabardine is a pronounced favorite for spring costumes. It is an extremely beautiful fabric and it has been developed in a great many ways until we have silk gabardines and cotton gabardines as well as wool gabardines. How many of us I wonder stop to think from whence the name comes or what it means. Really the gabardine is the name of a garment, the historic one worn by the Jews and which is familiar to us all as the robe of dun colored cloth held by a cord at the waist line worn by the various Sherlocks of our time. When the samples of the materials were first shown, someone observed it would be good for a gabardine and gabardine was immediately applied to the cloth. Notwithstanding Shakespeare and his famous utterance, names certainly have their influences. On the authority of a dealer of reputé and who does an extensive business, it may be said that the term champagne as applied to a color has sold millions of yards of fabric that never would have been bought had they been called "pale straw" or known by any other prosaic name. At the moment, we are being shown a blue that is very beautiful in itself, so cool in its quality that it seems especially adapted to warm weather needs. It is known as "invisible". The color was achieved by the mingling of the blue worn by the armies of the North and the grey worn by the armies of the South during the lamentable struggle of the last century. It is called "invisible" as symbolizing the Country as it now stands. Even were it less lovely in itself the suggestion would make it worth while. As it is we may be patriotic and romantic without any sacrifice of beauty.

Sports costumes grow in variety and in charm. They are really very fascinating, they will make an all-important feature of the warm weather season and they are expected to go a long way toward solving the problem of summer dress. They are worn not alone for sports but for general morning occasions and are held correct at any time before the dinner hour, therefore simplifying the wardrobe in a very interesting way. Golf, tennis, motoring and the like may be enjoyed at any hour. To be gowned appropriately is in good taste, consequently, one may indulge in a walk, in a lounge on the piazza, a stroll on the bench and appear at luncheon in a sports costume and be absolutely correct. The newest to have appeared are made of crêpe de chine and is there any possible use to which that satisfactory material cannot be put. It is thoroughly serviceable in good qualities it wears well, it is always attractive and it is delightfully pleasant to wear. Applied to sports costumes, it is made with a straight gathered skirt finished with a hem and with patch pockets and with the conventional loose coat held by a sash of the material. As seen at a noted dealer the color was American beauty red, a costume fascinating in the extreme. Jersey or glove silk has been discussed time and again for the sports costume and it is constantly appearing in new colors and in new effects. Pongee and rajah is being extensively employed and the stripes that are shown are marvelously beautiful in color. Wide stripes are utilized for the plaited skirts that are always effective from such material, and frequently the costume consists of a plaited skirt of striped silk with the coat of plain matching the brightest color stripe for the sports costume must be picturesque, it must have its nets of color and perhaps in that very fact is found its charm.

A new silk being used for the purpose and which washes perfectly without belonging really to the class of silks which are familiar to us under the name of tub, is known as la Jerz. An exquisitely handsome costume of that material is made with a skirt of white striped with American beauty red and a coat of the plain red silk. The skirt is circular cut on the bias and the sash that holds this coat is edged with a fringe. It is an exclusive model and a very beautiful model.

It is astonishing how many really thin materials we have that are durable. Crêpe de chine has already been mentioned as being available for numberless uses. Georgette crêpe has proved itself of inestimable value and there is a new material in the market known as will-o-the-wisp.

Tea Apron

EVERY woman likes a pretty dainty apron for the chafing-dish supper, for the hour given over to fancy work and for various similar occasions. This is a very charming, attractive one and the embroidery is so simple that it is easy of accomplishment.

Fine sheer white materials are those generally used but this season there is

Design for embroidering a fancy apron including the pattern of the apron. such a tendency toward colored accessories and it would be pretty to make the apron of rose colored, blue or pale green cotton voile or organdie, embroidered with white, if such color harmonizes with the costume. White could be embroidered with color to be attractive and there are various ways in which the design could be used. The scalloped edge should be padded and button-holed. The flowers and leaves can be worked either solidly or as eyelets, the dots in either way. The stems are to be outlined. The little tucks that are arranged in groups take the place of gathers and draw the apron in prettily at the waist line. The ribbon is arranged in a novel manner, being passed through big slits that are worked eyelet stitch for the purpose. If a more dressy effect is wanted, a frill of lace can be arranged under the scalloped edge.

CHIC STYLES FOR THE TAILORED BLOUSE

THE tailored blouse is one of the essentials of all seasons. It may fairly be said to be the bread and butter of the wardrobe so to speak. Here are good models for the coming season. Both open and high necks are to be worn and many blouses are made with the convertible collar that is so essentially practical. We are putting crêpe de chine and Georgette crêpe to every possible use in these days and a great many of the simplest blouses are made thereof. The tub blouses are many, jersey silks are being used, taffeta is of light weight and liked for many occasions but the linen and cotton materials take a definite place and are exceedingly smart and attractive. Handkerchief lawn in stripes is much seen. Cotton voile and cotton crêpe are extensively used. Lace banding make appropriate trimming but there is a decided tendency toward handwork and little bits of embroidery often are employed on what otherwise would be a plain blouse. Simple outlining and darning are used with good effect and it really is surprising what results can be obtained with little expenditure either of labor or of time.

The threatening weather has not seriously interfered with the track work at the normal of late. Tonight, the weather permitting, Dr. Sputh has planned to hold a little preliminary meet so he can decide just about who will compose his 1916 team.

Practicing for the running-broad jump last night, Harry Grausnick sprained his instep and is now walking about with the assistance of a cane. It is thought he will again be in good condition by the time school opens next week. Grausnick has added much strength to the track prospects. Besides keeping Ryan humping in the sprints, he is heaving the shot well and is also doing work in the broad jump.

After a long discussion at a meeting of the normal seniors yesterday, the pedagogues decided to continue their plans for staging the annual class play and chose Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew". Many of the students have been working on the production for a long time. Try-outs will be held shortly so the play can be put on before the commencement season is at full height.

ELECTRIC AUTO FAVORED BY WOMEN

The gasoline car, in spite of the wonderful progress made in its manufacture during recent years, will never replace the electric car, in the opinion of Otto Marx, vice president of the Milburn Wagon company, builders of the Milburn Light Electric, and Mr. Marx backs up his opinion with considerable evidence. He refers especially to the unusual convenience of the electric, its cleanliness and its simplicity in operation, which, he says, appeal to the men as well as the women.

"The unusual convenience of the electric cannot be duplicated by the gasoline product and no one appreciates this fact better than the woman. In the light electric, the driver has no starting motor to operate, no troublesome gears to shift, no annoying clutch pedal to occupy his or her attention and, in fact, all he or she has to do is to get into the machine, simply press a lever and steer. Then, too, the car is so constructed that it cannot skid and its short turning radius makes driving in the heaviest traffic comparatively easy.

"Another fact, which should be mentioned in this connection, is the all-year-round availability of the electric vehicle. It is affected by neither heat nor cold. In the winter months, the electric coupe is warm and comfortable and, no matter how low the temperature is, it is always ready to start. There is nothing to freeze and what business man, who drives to his office daily, does not applaud this feature? Furthermore, in hot weather, the electric has no competitor for cool and comfortable riding. There is no churning motor to heat the car and the operating is so simple that it involves practically no effort or strain on the part of the driver."

Your Tonic for Spring

should do these things—clear away waste; dispel inflammation; invigorate the bodily processes. After a hard winter your blood may be clogged, your digestion not up to the mark, and stagnant areas (catarrh) exist in the membranes of the stomach, intestines or lungs. The result is a tired feeling, irregular appetite and loss of energy.

Peruna Invigorates

all your body, helps to soothe away all inflammation, restores the irregular appetite to a healthy condition, and clears away all waste. It's a real tonic—especially good in catarrhal conditions like indigestion, after effects of grip, convalescence, and spring lassitude. You may take it with perfect safety, confident that it has been of benefit for 44 years to thousands, and hence possesses real merit. What it has done for them is the best evidence of what it will do for you. Begin it today. In liquid or tablet form. All druggists recommend Peruna. The Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio

Carranza's New Agent

Dr. Alfred Caturegli
First Chief Carranza has appointed Dr. Alfred Caturegli his special financial agent in the United States, particularly for the protection of American investors in Mexico. The recognition of Carranza by the United States was followed by the organization of many fraudulent concerns which pretended to have concessions in Mexico. So many inquiries reached Carranza that an agent was appointed, and to him American investors may apply for information. He makes his office with the Mexican consul general in New York.

HOW TO MAKE THE BABY SICK

(From State Board of Health)
Never mind about its daily bath. Pay little attention to its clothing. Give it any old thing to eat and never feed it by the clock.
Allow flies to crawl over its face and playthings and get into its food. Keep it in the kitchen where the cooking and other noisy work is done.
Never mind its comfort whether it is hot in summer or cold in winter.
See that it gets no sunshine nor sleeps in the fresh air.
Have it sleep in the same bed with its mother and father.
Give it cow's milk for mother's milk at any time.
Wean it in hot weather, all at once, and give it to eat whatever you happen to have.
Pay no attention to what the doctors say.
Expose it to contagious diseases, like chicken pox, whooping cough and measles whenever you feel like it.
If it gets sick, don't call the doctor.
Keep this up and you will not only have a puny, sick baby, but in a little while you will have no baby at all.

STUDENT VOTING CASE AT MADISON OF INTEREST HERE

Rights of Local Normalites at Stake with Those of University Men at Madison

CASE IS TAKEN TO HIGH COURT

Lower Court in Dane County Rules That Students Are Legally Entitled to Suffrage

Men students at the La Crosse normal school are watching with interest the outcome of a case now pending before the supreme court at Madison, involving the right of students to vote in the cities where they are attending school. The case is before the supreme court on an appeal from the decision of Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court in a case growing out of elections at Madison. Judge Stevens held that a university student who has no present intention of leaving Madison is a legal voter. Ralph W. Jackman, attorney for the appellants, will attempt to have the case argued as soon as possible, in order to have it out of the way before the June vacation of the court.

Several university students brought an action against the election board of the First ward in Madison, alleging that these officials had refused to allow them to vote. The election officials demurred to the complaint, claiming that they did not state a cause of action. Judge Stevens overruled the demurrer.

Students cannot be placed in a special classification in determination of whether they have established voting residences in a Wisconsin community. Judge Stevens points out that their right to vote, if questioned, must be ascertained in the same manner as would be that of a clerk, laborer, business or professional man. The circumstances set up in the case of the plaintiff Goss, the court declares, place him in the same class of a large number of unmarried men employed in Madison, who return to visit their parents during vacations.

The case is of wide importance wherever schools of higher education are located attended by men of voting age.

Abacadabra a Fever Cure.
Long before a change of climate came to be advertised as a cure for hay fever, an idea the railroads have been suspected of fostering, a simpler remedy was thought to be the word, abacadabra. This magical word was once used as a charm againstague and fevers. Its meaning is disputed. As a charm it was written to form an inverted triangle by dropping the last letter at each successive repetition.—Kansas City Times.

What the Fishes Can See.
Fishes can distinguish one color from another and can even distinguish between different shades of the same color. This has been proved by a long series of experiments upon gobies and sticklebacks, undertaken by Mlle. Marie Goldsmith in the biological laboratory at Roscoff, France, under the direction of Professor Delage. These also proved that fishes can distinguish between the forms or shapes of objects.

Last night, in the First Baptist church, Rev. C. C. Rowlinson spoke on "A Day of Controversy." Tonight the second service will be held in the First Methodist church. Rev. W. J. Peacock is the speaker. His subject will be "A Day of Silence."

The Thursday meeting will be held in the First Congregational church. Rev. E. C. Dixon has the topic, "The Last Day With the Disciples." At this service the ordinance of the Lord's supper, instituted on Thursday of Passion Week, will be observed.

Women's Duties.

For the women of an earlier time, their duties were not only well defined, they were unescapable. For us, they are not only rather readily escapable, they are not even defined. This is, indeed, broadly true of all ethics, whose entire emphasis seems to have changed. The older moralists occupied themselves with the difficulty of doing one's duty. The modern ones, if they want to hold our attention, must rather consider the preliminary difficulty of finding out what one's duty is.—Elizabeth Wood bridge in Atlantic Monthly.

PUT UP SCREENS SAYS HEALTH BOARD

MADISON, Wis., April 19.
—Put in screen doors and windows now, is the advice of the state board of health against the coming of warm weather and flies. Today's bulletin from the department says:
"Warm weather is about here and according to the nature of warm weather and flies, flies will be here by the hundred fold in about a week or ten days, and whoever would be prepared against their arrival have their doors and windows well screened. Doors that remained in place all winter are likely to be found sagging or with holes punched in them, or perhaps this was the condition in which they were put away last fall. Anyway, it is time that old screens are repaired and put in place, and that orders be given for new ones wherever they are needed."

MOTHERS' CIRCLE

The Mother's circle of the First Presbyterian church is meeting at the church parlors this afternoon. The hostesses are the Mesdames Edward Cronon, Charles W. Smith, Agnes Eastwood and Albert J. Roberge.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

A most interesting talk on the Holy Land by Rev. J. Nordby was the feature of the program given at the meeting of the Young People's Society of Our Savior's Lutheran church at the church parlors last evening. The speaker, who made a visit to the far east some time ago, drew for his hearers a most vivid word picture of Palestine, its people and their customs, its scenery and points of interest. The musical part of the program consisted of piano music by the Misses Freda Kolb and Jessie Chase, and songs by Gordon, Gladys and Ruth Chase. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, the Misses Louise Halvorson, Matilda Gilbertson and Emma Jevnlie, and a social time followed.

"WHITE SALE" WELL ATTENDED

Despite the inclement weather a good attendance was present yesterday afternoon and evening at the pre-Easter "White Sale" and supper given by the ladies of the Tabernacle Baptist church at the church parlors last evening. A large crowd partook of the excellent supper provided and were equally generous in the purchase of articles offered for sale, there remaining unsold not more than half a dozen articles.

KINGS' DAUGHTERS

Holding their regular meeting on Tuesday instead of Saturday, this being vacation week, the Kings' Daughters' circle of the First Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joel K. White, 1414 Madison street. Following the devotional exercises the afternoon was spent in sewing on garments for the poor of La Crosse. Refreshments were served after which a short special program was given consisting of vocal selections by Miss Iva Pease and piano music by Miss Evelyn Siler. This being the last meeting at which Miss Katherine McKee, who has been directing the work of the girls, will be present, the members of the society presented her with a parting gift. The circle will meet again on Saturday, May the 6th at the church parlors.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Salzer and daughters Ruth and Ellen and son Bill, Miss Terenza Elton and Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Muenster and son Robert.

Social Briefs

Arthur G. Tillman has returned to Madison, where he is attending the University of Wisconsin, after spending his spring vacation at the home of his parents, 211 North Twentieth street.

The Misses Martha Vandry and Ruth Davis left last night for Chicago to remain for the Easter vacation.

Suggestions for Easter

A Bonnet Party
An ingenious hostess, ever on the alert to provide something new for the entertainment of her guests, has bidden twenty of her friends to spend the Monday after Easter with her, the hours being from 2 to 5. She has provided many rolls of crepe and French tissue paper of all shades, also plenty of stiff white paper for making the hat frames. Each guest is to be a vote taker for the best and poorest concoctions.

Quaint Easter Customs
In North Wales the children go from house to house during Easter week asking for contributions of eggs. If they are not forthcoming they call out this curious threat: Please give us an Easter egg, If you do not give us one Your hen shall lay an addled one, Your cock shall lay a stone.

There is an ancient tradition that some new article of clothing must be worn for the first time on Easter Sunday. A poet of Dorsetshire has left this ancient saying to that effect:

Easter I put on my new frock coat, The first time—very new;
With yellow buttons all of brass That glittered in the sun like glass Because 'twas Easter Sunday.

Affair For an Easter Bride
A young woman who has chosen to be an Easter bride is to have a novel shower given her. The articles presented are all to be small enough to be concealed in an Easter favor. These would include turnover collars,

The wedding will take place either in New York or Washington, and may be solemnized in the White House.

cuffs, handkerchiefs, silk stockings, bits of jewelry, dollies, etc. The place favors are to be adorable Easter hats and a big box covered with cretonge or wall paper of suitable design is to be provided to put the gifts in for the bride to take home. This is to be a luncheon and the gifts will be presented by the maid carrying them on a tray after the dessert course. The centerpiece is to be Easter lilies.

WOMEN'S VOTING PARTY BRINGS BACK SOUTHERN CHIVALRY

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Southern chivalry has been reinstated at the capitol since the announcement that the Congressional union would form a women voter's party to defeat the party that does not pass the national suffrage resolution.

Women lobbyists now are greeted with smiles and polite bows, whereas formerly they received only curt nods of recognition and at times had office doors slammed in their faces. "I'm mighty glad to see you," said a southern representative to a group of lobbyists the other day. "It's getting hot, ain't it? Come into my office and sit down. I want to talk with you 'bout this plan you've got to form a woman's party."

The women are wearing their brightest smiles and most fetching hats. They have taken the advice of Suzanne Coe, Chicago, physical culturist, who in a "Just-between-us-girls" talk around the tea table advocated a winning smile and a powder.

WOMEN! HERE'S ONE

Says you save $5 in an hour by dry cleaning everything with gasoline.

Dry cleaning at home is just as simple as laundering. Any woman can clean five dollars' worth in fifteen minutes at little cost by getting from the drug store two ounces of solvite and put this in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves. Then immerse articles to be cleaned; rub a little and in a few moments the gasoline evaporates and the articles look bright and fresh as new.

You can dry clean silk waists, dresses, coats, ribbons, kid gloves, satin shoes, evening slippers, shawls, belts, yokes, furs, boas, muffs, neckties, lawns, dainty and chiffon dresses, draperies, fine lace curtains, woolen garments, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined by soap and water as dry cleaning doesn't fade, shrink or wrinkle, making pressing unnecessary.

Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store, which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

Rasmussen and Mayor to Speak to Boys; Scout Council to Be Present

Meeting for furtherance of the Boy Scout movement, Troop I, Boy Scouts of La Crosse, tomorrow evening will hold their second annual bean supper in the parlors of the North Presbyterian church. All second class scouts of the troop will be present, it is announced by Assistant Scout Master Finch A. Clarke, for the purpose of urging boys not scouts and third class scouts to become scouts of the second class.

Dr. R. A. Rasmussen, president of the La Crosse County Hunting and Fishing association, will address the boys on the protection of birds and game. Mayor E. E. Bentley and the members of the scout council of the city will also be present.

APPARATUS READY FOR MILLIONS OF PIKEPERCH EGGS

With the hatching apparatus in place and being fitted out, the millions of pikeperch eggs are expected from the government fisheries station at Put-in-Bay, Ohio.

That the eggs may be delayed in arrival because of the backward opening of the lakes this spring is the opinion of Hugo Crasser, superintendent of the local station. Fishermen in Lake Erie, who catch pikeperch in the lake and sell the spawn to the government, have been unable this far to ply their trade.

More than three millions of eggs are expected here.

OWNERS OF RIVER HOUSES FEAR WIND

An apprehensive throng of boat-house and houseboat owners hastened to Black river early this morning to view expected damage to their property by last night's wind. But they found none.

That many houses were not loosened from their moorings and blown across the river into the bottoms is the wonder of north side river men. The heavy easterly wind pounded for hours against the houses. Only the extra stakes driven since the high water, it is said, saved the houses from being driven into the river. The houses lack the protection from east winds of the high embankment, which now, in high water, is greatly lowered.

Women Can Do Justice To Home and Career

SAN FRANCISCO.—That a woman can have children, home, husband, independence and a career, can do justice to all five, and be happy, is the opinion of Miss Emma Fryhofer, the only co-ed graduate student in the College of Commerce of the University of California. After taking her degree in the University of Kansas, she has now switched over to the business studies in the determination to fit herself for secretarial work. She claims that the domestic life is important, but not all-sufficient. "Those who fear the entrance of women into the professions and the industries will leave the world motherless are alarmists," she says. "The average child is spoiled by over-attention. Every one owes some debt to the community, and women of the leisure class can pay it as well as the business or professional woman. Women are coming to realize that the wealth of husband or father does not buy them immunity from service to the world. The time is coming when every girl will be fitted for some productive pursuit other than that of home maker. It will aid rather than hinder the domestic felicity of the nation."

Brookline Society Women Offer $100 For Playlet

BOSTON, April 19.—A prize play for children competition, open to every writer in the entire United States, is being conducted by the Red Stocking Community, of Brookline, an association of Massachusetts society women.

One hundred dollars is offered as a prize for the best play, which the Red Stocking Community will produce in connection with its Christmas pageant.

The play is to be presented by young society children of Boston's fashionable suburb. The Community committee therefore wants a simple play which can be easily given by the youngsters.

Plays have already been contributed by authors from the Pacific coast, and widespread interest is being shown in the plan.

Authors from various parts of the country may send their contributions to Miss Esther G. Barrows, who is in charge of the Christmas committee at the Coolidge Corner post office, Brookline.

DIAZ REVOLUTION DRAWS ATTENTION OF SECRET SERVICE

BY E. T. CONKLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

EL PASO, Texas, April 19.—While the halting Villa chase awaited confirmation of his death or American reinforcements to renew the pursuit in safety, the Felix Diaz revolt raised its head again here today.

United States secret service men were investigating reports that the Diaz revolution was being perfected at border points and would break out immediately on the withdrawal of the American expedition.

Financial interests favoring intervention were said to be ready to back the Diaz movement if the presence of the United States troops in Mexico did not finally result in intervention. The government operatives were trying to run down definite clues along this line.

Diaz himself is understood to be hiding on the east coast of Mexico but keeping in touch with his followers here and abroad. The movement was temporarily suspended when the United States troops crossed the Mexican border.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur
It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Where Courtships Are Long.

Young ladies in Russia are not at all averse to long engagements, and use all sorts of artifices to stave off the wedding day as long as possible, but in no country in the world are courtships so abnormally long as in Bohemia, where engagements commonly last from fifteen to twenty years. In fact, there recently died there, at the age of ninety-nine, an old man who had been courting for 75 years and who was married on his death bed.

Window Seat.

If you build a bay window in your dining room, do not put a window seat in it. In a dining room you would rarely use it, and it would be a shame to take up valuable space unnecessarily. Window seats are rarely comfortable, anyway.

YEAR'S TEST OF HARRISON LAW IS PROOF OF VALUE

and, in broken English, explained that he had a substitute for cocaine which was twice as effective. With eager, shaking hands they counted out the price, seized the tablets offered, and crushed them on their tongues. Within ten minutes, both dropped senseless. The overdose of the powerful substitute was too much for their weak bodies. They died within the hour. During that day ten other men applied to the New York police for treatment. They said that the drug market had been cornered and only the wealthy could get a supply.

There were 1,021 drug users treated at the Metropolitan hospital, New York, during the last six months of 1915. There were sixty-two voluntary drug patients at Bellevue during January of this year.

Systematic Smuggling

The new law did from the start break up a great deal of the traffic in narcotics. But the underworld is not so easily conquered. In the large cities the "dope syndicates" have been systematically smuggling and distributing the drugs and have defied the law. In a raid in San Francisco two Chinese women were found guarding $50,000 worth of smuggled opium. It was believed to have been shipped through port-holes by Chinese coolies at night in tin cans, picked up by the opium ring, and brought to the port in launches. It was then shipped to a depot on the waterfront, transferred to trunks and boxes, and sent to headquarters. The tin cans were painted black and could not be seen floating on the waves at night. In another instance, seventy cases of opium, containing 100 five-tael cans each and valued at approximately $450,000, were intercepted by customs officials. This is said to be the largest single seizure ever made in the United States.

But all of the smuggling is not through ports of entry. The organizations also work across the international boundaries. The police believe that the women recently arrested in Detroit and known as the "Queen of the Dopes" is the head of a gigantic organization which has been bringing in immense quantities from Canada. The dope is brought in under neckties, in false cigarette or memo books and in numerous other ways. One hunchback who was arrested on suspicion, was found not to be a hunchback at all. His hunch was to carry dope.

Much From Mexico

Difficulty is also encountered on the Mexican line. One drug store in Juarez, Mexico, was found to be shipping $300 worth of drugs into the United States every day. It has also been discovered that drugs have been mailed into the United States in the folds of foreign newspapers. The authorities have also been successful in detecting some of the distributing organizations. Detectives concealed themselves in the "house of a thousand dreams," a flat in Minneapolis, and awaited the "finger nail rap" which is the pass word of the whole dope-consuming and dope-dispensing fraternity. The seized drugs, valued at $1,200 had been stolen from a wholesale drug house, and it is believed that the flat had been used as a regular headquarters for dispensing them to addicts who called there.

Glass Eye Carrier

Some of the hardest organizations to fight are those in the prisons. One keeper carried the dope to those behind the bars in his artificial eye. About a half dozen keepers at the Tombs reported seeing sensible prisoners eating a portion of shirt front or chewing a cuff. The investigation which followed showed that dope was used in the starching solution in the prison laundry, and the prisoners had been informed by means of the usual "underground telegraph."

Visits from limousines bearing well-dressed women resulted in a raid on a Chinese laundry. Detectives entered the store carrying a bundle of clothes. They caught a whiff of opium fumes and rushing to the rear of the place, burst open a door and found one of the most elaborate smoking layouts that has ever been seen in this country. In another raid on a dentist's office, a dope cabinet was found in the seat of the operating chair. When the patient sat in the chair he got a filling of dope. These cases are typical of what the revenue men contend with. There have been 325 convictions and about 220 sentences imposed. There were also a number of cases which were dropped upon recommendation of the United States attorneys because they were covered by the state laws.

Law Finds Kickers

It is therefore evident that under the Harrison law the traffic in habit-forming drugs is being effectually regulated, and many habits have been compelled to apply to hospitals and other institutions for treatment. But the law is not perfect nor it is claimed to be. The old argument has been advanced that the law interferes with personal liberty.

Canon Hannay (G. A. Birmingham) is now acting as chaplain to the British forces in a big camp at Havre, France. His elder son is soldiering "somewhere in France." Hannay's new book, "Gossamer," a tale of an international financier, laid fair to be more popular than the Irish humorist's previous successes.

Some doctors have objected to being tagged like automobiles. Others would make the law more rigid and wipe out all exemptions. It is probable, however, that the effects of the law will be studied for another year at least before any change is made in it.

While it is not a matter of particular consequence to those persons who favor regulatory acts intended to check the use of injurious commodities among the ignorant and the vicious, it is interesting to note that as a revenue act the law promises to be successful. The receipts for the first year will approximate $500,000. The total amount appropriated was $442,000. It will thus be seen that the law will be more than self sustaining, while it has certainly gone a long way toward stamping out one of the most dangerous vices.

Hope Lambing shut the door of the teacher's room softly, but firmly, and gave the key a surreptitious turn. She looked around cautiously, then started to count noses. "We're all here!" she exclaimed in excited albeit subdued tones.

"Do thyself no harm!" added Laura Taylor, who taught number one and prided herself on her wit. "Don't be sacrilegious, Laura. Girls, I've got a plan and it's just a peach!" Hope did a little jig.

The others glanced at one another with understanding. Another of Hope's departures from the proper path of dignity laid out for pedagogues in public schools! They were accustomed to such flights and listened tolerantly and with no particular interest.

Hope glued her ear to the door of an anteroom that led to the office. "He's not here yet, but he couldn't bear anyway." She nodded reassuringly and giggled. Hope's sense of humor was always at work like a leaven and running over. The upper-floor teachers called it silliness.

"Of whom are you speaking?" inquired Charity Brown precisely. "Him, of course! The professor!" "Well, what about the professor?" "He has just inherited a fortune, girls—a fortune—think of it! They say it's nearly a million dollars, or it's in pounds, I believe, for it's English, and they say there is a title that goes with it. But I'm not sure of that."

The excitement caused by the remark was obvious. Even the upper-floor teachers crowded around the center table to get all the wonderful news.

"But how do you know all this is true?" inquired Genevieve Travis, who had been a society bird before family difficulties had arisen to nip her social aspirations.

"I can't tell that. I'm not permitted, but his lawyer and my cousin—oh, girls I can't say any more. And, of course, it may not be true. But it could be true, couldn't it, for some one to die and leave him a lot of money? It's been done before, hasn't it?"

"Yes—it's common enough, I believe," contributed Miss Brown, a remark that could be ventured safely without showing too much interest in the remarkable news.

"But, Hope, why the flutter? What's back of it all?" asked Genevieve. "You still have something up your sleeve or I miss my guess. If you don't hurry up and tell I believe you'll bust."

Hope giggled again. "Oh, don't you see, girls? He's not married!" she whispered dramatically.

"Well!" in chorus. "And it's leap year." A sudden silence fell upon the room. Hope looked triumphantly from one to another. The effect of her news was gratifying beyond her expectations. Serena Hawkins was adjusting a barrette at the nape of her neck, straightened involuntarily, and Charity Brown was looking sentimentally out of the window.

Then a bell began to ring and they heard a man's voice in the hall.

Home Celebration of Wonder Interest

The arrival of a baby in the household completely changes the entire aspect of the future. But in the meantime, during the anxious period of expectancy, there is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend" that does wonders.

For external use, relieves the pains of muscle expansion, soothes and quiets the nerves, extends its influence to the internal organs and removes to a great extent the tendency to worry and apprehension. It is a natural treatment, safe for the mother, has no drug effect whatsoever and for this reason most exert a most beneficial influence upon those functions directly connected with motherhood. In a very interesting book the subject is freely discussed and a copy will be mailed free to all expectant mothers by Bradfield Regulator Co., 406 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today or any druggist. Use as directed and you will then know why mothers for nearly half a century have used and recommended this splendid aid to motherhood. Their letters are messages of cheer, that breathe comfort in every word.

"We must go now," said Hope. "It's up to you girls to do the rest. But it seems to me that fifteen young and attractive women who pride themselves on having brains would be very foolish to let a million dollars and a good-looking man get out of this building single and unpromised in leap year. Sh! Don't let another soul know or it will spoil our chances. Two months yet, and let the best man win!" She opened the door and went out followed by fourteen teachers, who smiled guiltily as they passed a man standing by his office door. John Aylmer looked after them quizzically. The smiles had not escaped him and he watched them as they disappeared up stairways and into doorways to get ready for the troops of young ideas now yelling in the school yard.

Hope Lambing went into number four and he caught a flash of her eyes as the door closed. There was something disturbing in that glance, and he felt an uneasiness he could not explain.

"I suppose I was a bit hateful about things this morning!" he reflected. "Really, she's about the best teacher in the building and I didn't need to get nasty about the spelling. I thought she'd hit me when I tore up those papers! I wish I didn't feel so devilish in the morning when I've been out to a party the night before. Besides, I wish Judith would hurry up and make up her mind whether she's going to marry me or not. She keeps me dangling like a fish on a hook. Darned if I'll stand it much longer! It would be a positive relief if she's say 'no' now."

The door of number four opened to let the children in and he caught another flash of Hope's eyes. He had taken two steps in that direction, but retreated hastily. "Hanged if I'll apologize! She's perfectly capable of taking care of herself. She's pretty when she's mad, though! By jove, she's always pretty. She has a smile and a voice that would coax a bird off a tree."

The school filled and quieted.

Doors closed and a gong rang. The afternoon work was on.

In the next week, it was wonderful how head dressings took on waves and puffs, flat heels grew inches high and cheeks bloomed. Smiles were everywhere—yet there was a certain exclusiveness quite apparent among the teachers, who regarded one another with suspicious coolness. None of this, however, reached the puzzled principal, who had never experienced such overwhelming attention as he was now receiving. Perplexity turned to wariness when Genevieve Travis asked for a private interview, and as delicately as she could, suggested her stating that she knew the ways of the world and society, and leaving sentiment out of the question, a man of his position should have a spouse who would do him credit. He refused her offer as kindly as he could, but firmly, and when hysterics

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

threatened he grabbed his hat, calling in the assistance of his secretary.

The next day Charity Brown, plainly and without any varnishing, popped the question. Professor Aylmer retreated instantly, thinking she had lost her senses. But in the next fortnight he had received fourteen perfectly good proposals of marriage, all of which he had humbly and gratefully declined. He would have thought it a joke, but the attitude of the teaching force toward one another proclaimed that was no laughing matter. Things were serious!

There was one person left. Hope Lambing had not come forth to offer her heart and hand. This puzzled him more than anything else. She shut herself in her room daily and he saw little of her. When he did—those eyes still flashed. It was curious—the whole thing. To make life more interesting, Judith had made a decision—in the negative. He was free!

"I'd resign and check the whole thing if school wasn't so nearly over," he declared. "Four weeks more, then Canada for me all summer. By fall, maybe, these worthy dames will have pieced together their broken hearts and forgiven me. I can't understand two things, however—the attraction I seem suddenly to possess and the omission of room four to follow suit with the rest."

One day after four o'clock, he was taking requisition slips to the first floor rooms. In number four, Hope Lambing was sealing a letter at her desk, but her eyes, instead of flashing defiance, were full of real tears.

"It's my resignation," she said brokenly. "I can't stand it here any longer. The whole place is hateful to me! I'll never play another practical joke as long as I live," vehemently. Then followed a confession of her plan to get even with her superior. "And, after all, it was only cruel to those poor souls here," she went on. "I'm ashamed of myself!"

"You needn't be!" he declared. "They are a lot of geese. Hope, dear, I love you. Could you take me on eighteen hundred a year and a heart full of devotion."

"I—" she hesitated, then smiled suddenly. "Why, yes, I suppose I could!"

"Then we'll just hand this resignation in to the board meeting tonight," he declared.

Children's First Duty.

It is the duty of children to be obedient to their parents. Of all the creatures we are acquainted with, mankind are the longest, before they become capable of shifting for themselves; and it seems to be the design of Providence in keeping them so many years in a state of dependence upon their parents, to train them up to obedience.—Price.

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awaken in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refresh the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition. Neurasthenia is the name given to this common form of nervous debility in which the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need.

Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worth a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's homer: Hal Chase of the Cincinnati Reds, off Adams of the Pirates, in the tenth, winning the game.

Boston got it twice in the same spot. The Braves were dumped into third place when Alexander of the Phillies blanked the Evers tribe, 4 to 0 when the Red Sox were taking a licking from the Senators in their home town.

It was the first loss for the Boston clubs.

The White Sox were in a slugging mood. The Browns used three pitchers but could not stop 'em.

The Cubs had an enforced vacation of rain. They used the time by riding trains to Chicago. Tomorrow is the Cubs' opener in the Windy

CAMPION COLLEGE DEFEATS BADGERS

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., April 19.—After beating Notre Dame twice, Armour institute and the Duquesne German college, the Wisconsin baseball team went down to defeat at the hands of Campion college, 6 to 1.

1. The slugging of Campion proved too much for Moon, the Badger twirler, while Freyman had his opponents guessing at all times. According to Coach Slim Lewis of Wisconsin, Freyman is the best pitcher the Badgers have faced on the spring trip. Freyman allowed but four hits and struck out eleven. Campion got eleven hits, Plantz leading with three. Freyman's pitching and Ratchen's three-bagger were the features.

The average man knows how to do another man's work better than he knows how to do his own.
